Basic Medical Research building (M4) Room 556

Course objective

This course provides a forum in which students will discuss current articles and be introduced to advanced methods. Through readings, presentations and discussion, students will deepen their understanding recent trends in biomedical research and strengthen their data presentation and writing skills. This experience will facilitate both formal and informal presentation of a student's own research.

Presentation Requirement

Six presentations occur during each class. No later than one week before each class, speakers are required to send me an e-mail regarding journal name, publication year, title and abstract (you can copy/paste the PubMed format) that will be presented at the class. Then I will collect the information and upload it home page. All students need to print-out and bring it for the class.

At the class, students write their name and answer the specific questions on this sheet. After class, the sheets are collected for the checking attendance and evaluation.
